The name change is unnecessary & a cost we don't need.

I don't agree with any name change. It will be a waste of money. It will cause confusion. It's the same community centre with an extension.
Contribution 28 of 29 | 28 August 2025

While I like the concept of PLACE, I feel as an acronym it would constantly need to be explained or would not be known by many who access the centre. I would also suggest consistency in naming practices across community centres in Frankston City to allow for a shared understanding of their purpose and value in the community. Langwarrin Rise sounds like a housing estate to me!
Contribution 27 of 29 | 27 August 2025

It sounds like we are losing our community centre
Contribution 26 of 29 | 25 August 2025

It could also just be called Langwarrin Community Centre and Pre-School, or Langwarrin Pre-school and Community Centre.
Contribution 25 of 29 | 25 August 2025

Langwarrin Place sounds nice but Langwarrin Connections I don't feel sounds very good Langwarrin Community Centre is better, sounds more inviting
Contribution 24 of 29 | 24 August 2025

I think the current name is still appropriate. LANGWARRIN Rise sounds like a location like Pindara or sub set of the suburb. Langwarrin Connections sound like an organisation or group not a place. I am not sure that the cost of renaming will out way the benefits.
Contribution 23 of 29 | 24 August 2025

The additional services to be housed here strengthen the COMMUNITY links therefore the current name continues to serve the purpose. No need to incur the additional expense with new logo and signage etc, plus people ease of searching/finding the service. Langarrin Community Centre - name is clear and concise and communicates who the building is intended for and the services it would house.
Contribution 22 of 29 | 24 August 2025

Please do NOT call it Langwarrin rise.. that's just dumb. It's already confusing to have Lang road and Warrin rise right at its door. We don't need it being any harder with a crap confusing name which would likely cause transport issues and mail issues, AND all the parking issues this place has created during refurbishment and no doubt this won't improve once it opens with all the extra services plus the SUV brigade parking in our street blocking the roads picking up their kids from the multitude of schools. Maybe focus on improving parking for the residents and don't make our lives harder with confusing names. Langwarrin PLACE is the best of all 3, but why bother changing it at all.
Contribution 21 of 29 | 23 August 2025

What's wrong with community centre? It's perfect!!! Don't really like any of those changers.
Contribution 20 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Don't really think name needs to change
Contribution 19 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Langwarrin Community Hub
Contribution 18 of 29 | 22 August 2025

If you leave it Langwarrin community house people who Google where it is and what it offers will find it. Including new people moving to Langwarrin. Absolutely none of the names you propose is suitable. It's like know what bin does what. You know what a community house does. Because it's for the community.
Contribution 17 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Having an acronym is perfect and the use of what you do creating PLACE
Contribution 16 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Place sounds inclusive.
Contribution 15 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Wurri Ganya – "Meeting Place" Or Kurran Place – "Kurran" is derived from local Indigenous languages meaning "home" or "meeting place" (please confirm with Traditional Owners for accuracy and permission).
Contribution 14 of 29 | 22 August 2025

It sounds like two low-effort choices have been provided to push people towards choosing a very forced acronym.
Contribution 13 of 29 | 22 August 2025

It's a community friendly name and seems inclusive
Contribution 12 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Place is a logical name
Contribution 11 of 29 | 22 August 2025

They are okay, but what about "The LANG centre", (learn, access, nurture, grow. And its on Lang road so it makes sense
Contribution 10 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Langwarrin PLACE encompasses the services that will be run out of the building.
Contribution 9 of 29 | 22 August 2025

The existing name is exactly what it is and will be. Langwarrin Community Centre. If we were to rename it should be a name tied to the local language even then it probably should be dual named.
Contribution 8 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Langwarrin place has a good sound to it, rise doesn't really have any meaning to it. And langwarrin connections doesn't sound like a place, it sounds like an organisation or group
Contribution 7 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Love the idea of Langwarrin Place, a way to engage all in the community
Contribution 6 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Changing the name to Langwarrin PLACE better reflects the activities that will take place at the Centre.
Contribution 5 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Langwarrin Connections reflects the variety of services provided.
Contribution 4 of 29 | 22 August 2025

Langwarrin place is the nicest most relatable name.
Contribution 3 of 29 | 22 August 2025

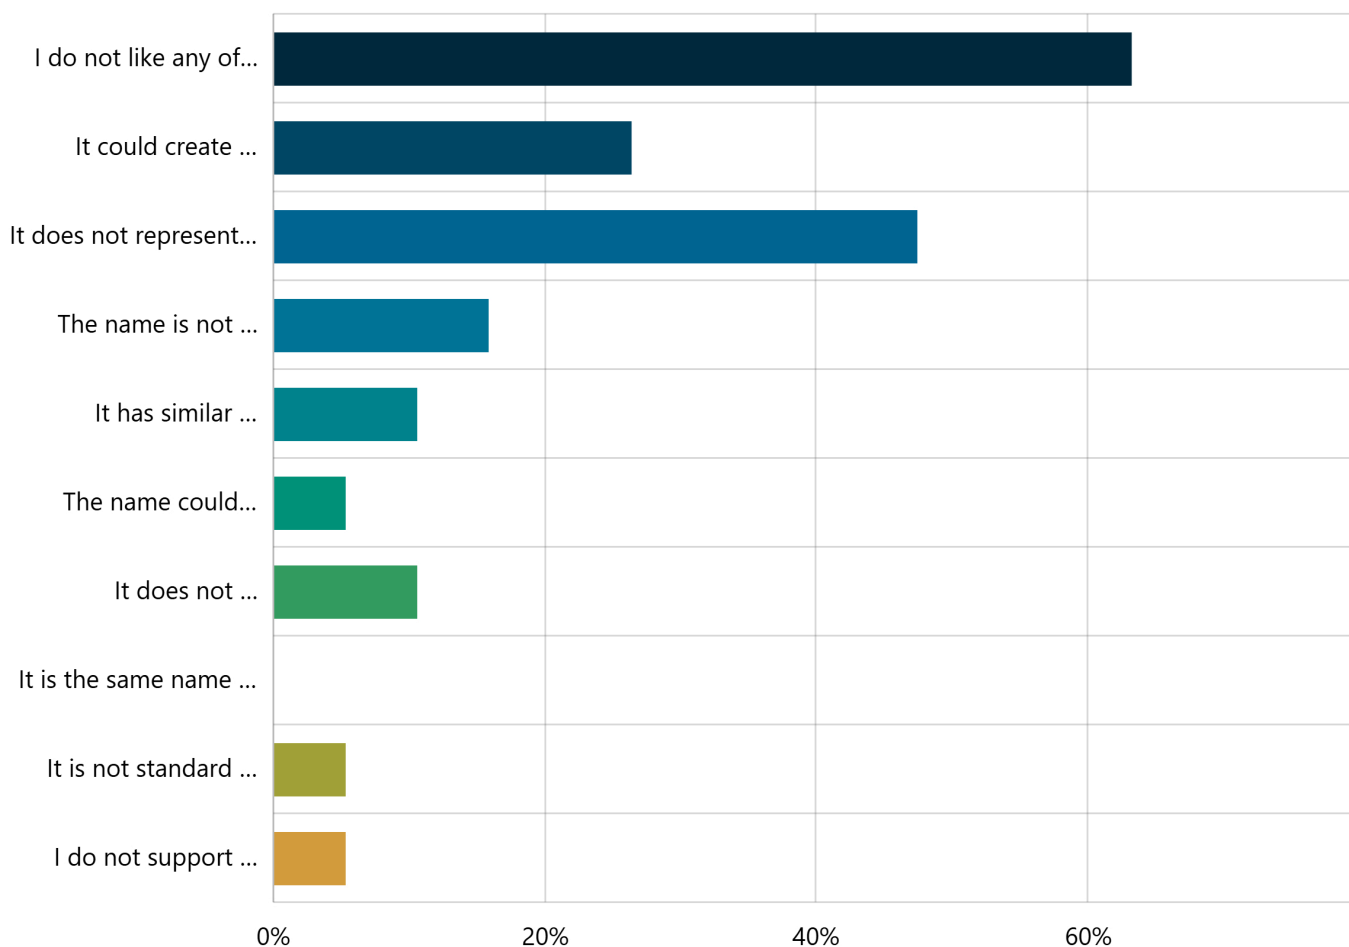

Langwarrin Place is the best option as it is an acronym that sums everything up
Contribution 2 of 29 | 21 August 2025

I prefer to keep langwarrin community centre over langwarrin rise and langwarrin connections.
